POETRY CONTEST

All Reservation Poetry Contest sponsored by James E. Shanley Tribal Library and Poplar Schools seventh grade English class. There will be six categories. Each poem should be original for a general audience. There will be drop boxes at James E. Shanley Tribal Library and Poplar Middle School.

One typed entry per person, per category. Please include your name, category, age and contact information on your entry. You may use the Library to type up your entry.

The Contest will run from February 1 – 29, 2016. Winners will be honored at a gathering at the Library where they will be asked to read their poem. Winning poems will be included in a booklet.

Any questions, contact Lorna Henze at 768-5549.

STUDENT OF THE YEAR

FPCC is pleased to announce Elise Akers as the 2015/16 American Indian College Fund Student of the Year. Elise is a General Studies major with honorary distinctions such as Dean’s List and President’s List. She is actively involved in extracurricular activities and volunteer work such as FCCLA, Volleyball, Softball, Choir, Teacher’s Aid for After School Tutoring and Summer School.

“My educational goal is to graduate from Fort Peck Community College with a 4.0 and to remember everything I was taught, for I know it will help me in future years to come. My career goal is to become a veterinarian and help animals that are injured and need new homes . . . I believe, that by completing my education, it will show many Native Americans that they can be whatever they desire to be with a lot of dedication and heart.” - Elise Akers, FPCC Student of the Year, American Indian College Fund 2015/16

Elise will be attending the AIHEC Student Conference in Minneapolis, MN next month where she will be recognized among her fellow tribal college peers for her outstanding achievement. Please congratulate Elise on her accomplishment and hard work.

FPCC ROUND DANCE

The FPCC Cultural Committee recently sponsored a round dance last Friday at the GTD Auditorium at the Poplar Campus. The event was well attended and open to the entire community. Plans are underway to sponsor another round dance in Wolf Point in the coming weeks.

Student Support Services

The new TRIO Student Support Services Program and what benefits you are likely to receive if you apply. An Academic Advocate and a Student Success Advocate will work directly with students to make sure they are on track to graduate. Program participants will be exposed to cultural events, financial assistance, academic support, and general counseling. The SSS program is open to most Pell Eligible students and/or first generation students. Please call the TRIO Student Support Services program for more information (406) 768 6346.
