Student Success

Dale Cure was raised with a family of truck drivers in Box Elder, MT. Because of this he always had an interest in semis and heavy equipment. About seven years ago Dale participated in a two-year vocational mechanic course for over the road, heavy equipment and agricultural equipment. He moved to Havre and began working as a mechanic and service technician at LEL Classic. He and his girlfriend, Samantha have been together for almost five years and they have two daughters A.T. who is 2 ½ and Dallas who is 10 months old. At the end of 2014 his girlfriend wanted to move back home to Fort Peck reservation to be close to her family.

Dale was able to enroll at Fort Peck Community College in the CDL program in the spring of 2015. Jerry Archdale and Jeremy Redstone were his instructors and both were very involved in helping everyone who showed the effort. He took the CDL test at the end of March and got hired at Wolf Point Sand & Gravel where he is still an employee and Dale says, "He loves the work." When asked about what he thought of his instructors at FPCC, Dale said, "I had excellent instructors and would like to thank Jerry for helping me get the job."
